

SOUP KITCHENS

The INN's soup kitchens are located throughout Long Island and serve more than 300,000 meals annually. Each soup kitchen is supported and operated locally and all but one are completely managed by volunteers. Individuals, schools, religious and community groups, and businesses donate much of the food. Social Workers are available to help guests who require assistance with a range of other needs.

SHELTERS

The INN operates three emergency shelters: two of these shelters are for families and one is for single men. All offer temporary refuge and supportive services for homeless individuals while they reside as guests in a home-like environment. With staff support, the guests search for a home while working or seeking employment.

INN the end...

"The food here is better than a restaurant. But the best of all is that the volunteers are so happy to help. They spread so much joy."
- from a soup kitchen guest

"This is the nicest home I've ever had."
- from a guest at an INN emergency shelter

"I can't thank you enough for the great job that you do, providing for families that need this kind of help."
- from a mother who received assistance for her family

"I get my paycheck at work and my reality check at The INN."
- from a soup kitchen volunteer

"... it is not possible to work full time at a minimum wage job anywhere in the country and still afford a place to live."
- National Coalition for the Homeless

"Hunger is always painful, and homelessness is truly devastating. As a society, we must make certain that our neighbors who suffer from hunger or homelessness are never ignored."

Serving Hungry and Homeless Long Islanders

INN the beginning...

The INN was founded by volunteers in 1983 to feed hungry people in the Village of Hempstead. Soon afterwards, as Long Island recognized how widespread the problem of hunger had become, The INN helped to establish soup kitchens in other communities. After two guests, who had been eating in the soup kitchen, were found frozen to death in a car, The INN realized that soup kitchens were not enough and responded by opening its first emergency shelter in 1984.

Today, The INN operates a growing network: more than 1,500 volunteers manage soup kitchens across Long Island. The INN's professional staff administers emergency shelters, long-term housing sites, and support programs.

Offering assistance to the guests in an atmosphere of dignity and respect is a hallmark of all of The INN's programs.

MISSION STATEMENT

The INN (Interfaith Nutrition Network) addresses the issues of hunger and homelessness on Long Island by providing food, shelter, long-term housing and supportive services in a dignified and respectful manner for those who seek our help. We are a not-for-profit, volunteer-based organization with a dedicated staff, a broad base of community support and a commitment to educate the public about these issues.

VETERANS HOUSING

The INN collaborates with the V.A. Medical Center in Northport and veterans groups to provide housing and supportive services for homeless veterans in recovery from substance abuse. The Catherine Martin INN provides a home for single male veterans.

LONG-TERM HOUSING

The INN's comprehensive program for formerly homeless families provides safe, well maintained, affordable housing, accompanied by a full range of supportive services. The INN's model program focuses on the elimination of the causes of homelessness to enable families to become self-sufficient.

SUPPORTIVE SERVICES

Social workers provide all guests of The INN's housing programs with supportive services, including counseling and case management, life skills training, tenancy and home management, educational tutoring for both children and their parents, and access to vocational training.
